

Sorell E. Negro

Ms. Negro is the President of the U.S. Chapter of the World Jurist Association and a lawyer with Robinson+Cole based in Miami, Florida. Her litigation experience spans federal and state courts, and includes environmental law, natural resources disputes, land use and development claims, business litigation, and products liability claims.

Ms. Negro focuses much of her practices leading international teams of attorneys and consultants on projects involving enforcement and implementation of national and international environmental laws including in the Caribbean and Africa. She advises offshore clients on land use regulations, permitting and development, sustainable development, and coastal development issues. When disputes have arisen from these projects, Ms. Negro has litigated issues related to due process in the development process, protection of threatened and endangered species, and effective mitigation of environmental impacts.

Prior to joining Robinson+Cole, Ms. Negro clerked for the Honorable Fernando M. Olguin of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. She earned her J.D. from Cornell Law School and B.S. from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service. She holds a certificate in justice and peace studies from Georgetown University and a certificate in cross-cultural issues in mediation and negotiation from Cornell University's Scheinman Institute.
