

Leonard Sands

Leonard Sands holds a Bachelor's degree in Construction Engineering Technology from Florida Agricultural & Mechanical University and is a qualified Project Manager by profession. His project management experience has taken him in an around the Bahamas on various large scale development projects over his career. The firm help founded, Sandbank Construction Company Ltd is a fast growing residential construction firm focused on providing personal service, excellent quality and on time delivery of projects in the high end home building market. Currently, he serves as a director in that company. Mr. Sands also serves as a member of the Industrial Advisory Committee at the School of Engineering Technology at the Florida Agricultural & Mechanical University and is a Dwight D. Eisenhower Fellow. Mr. Sands is passionate about construction and is strong advocate for contractor education, training and business development. Additionally, he is also a part-time lecturer at the School of Math, Physics and Technology at the University of the Bahamas.